VetMedSpanish.com is a self-paced and affordable online Continuing Education course designed by a bilingual Veterinarian for people who have studied Spanish in the past, but want to improve their confidence when communicating with Spanish-speaking clientele.

I wanted to brush up on my Spanish medical terminology and needed help with specific vocabulary, but with the fun relevant modules I got the hang of it quickly. Now that I have taken the course, I have noticed an improvement with my confidence when it comes to our Spanish speaking clientele. I’m also super happy that it is RACE approved!

Maravilloso! The format of the course is great for my busy lifestyle. I listen to the lectures every day in my car and I feel so much more confident speaking to my clients now! Gracias totales, Vetmedspanish!

Firocoxib Chewable Tablets for Dogs
For complete prescribing information, see full package insert. Caution: Federal law restricts this drug to use by or on the order of a licensed veterinarian. Indication: for the control of pain and inflammation associated with osteoarthritis and for the control of postoperative pain and inflammation associated with soft-tissue and orthopedic surgery in dogs. Warnings: For oral use in dogs only. Not for use in humans. Keep this and all medications out of the reach of children. Consult a physician in case of accidental ingestion by humans. Contraindications: Dogs with known hypersensitivity to firocoxib should not receive Firocoxib Chewable Tablets for Dogs. Precautions: This product cannot be accurately dosed in dogs less than 12.5 pounds in body weight. Consider appropriate washout times when switching from one NSAID to another or when switching from corticosteroid use to NSAID use. As a class, cyclooxygenase inhibitory NSAIDs may be associated with renal, gastrointestinal and hepatic toxicity. Sensitivity to drug-associated adverse events varies with individual patients. Dogs that have experienced adverse reactions from one NSAID may experience adverse reactions from another NSAID. Patients at greatest risk for adverse events are those that are dehydrated, on concomitant diuretic therapy, or those with renal, cardiovascular, and/or hepatic dysfunction. Concurrent administration of potentially nephrotoxic drugs should be carefully approached and monitored. NSAIDs may inhibit the prostaglandins that maintain normal homeostatic function. Such anti-prostaglandins effects may result in clinically significant disease that has not been previously diagnosed. Since NSAIDs possess the potential to produce gastrointestinal ulceration and/or gastrointestinal perforation, concomitant use of Firocoxib Chewable Tablets for Dogs with other anti-inflammatory drugs, such as NSAIDs or corticosteroids, should be avoided. The concomitant use of protein bound drugs with Firocoxib Chewable Tablets for Dogs has not been studied. Drug compatibility should be monitored in patients requiring adjunctive therapy. If additional pain medication is needed after the daily dose of Firocoxib Chewable Tablets for Dogs, a non-NSAID class of analgesic may be necessary. Appropriate monitoring procedures should be employed during surgical procedures. Anesthetic drugs may affect renal perfusion, approach concomitant use of anesthetics and NSAIDs cautiously. The use of parenteral fluids during surgery should be considered to decrease potential renal complications when using NSAIDs perioperatively. The safe use of Firocoxib Chewable Tablets for Dogs in pregnant, lactating or breeding dogs has not been evaluated.

To obtain full product information, request a Safety Data Sheet, or report suspected adverse events, please call 800-874-9764.

Approved by FDA under ANADA # 200-751
Pegasus Laboratories, Inc.

Dosage and Administration: For oral use in dogs only. The recommended dosage for Firocoxib Chewable Tablets for Dogs is 2.27 mg/lb (5.0 mg/kg) body weight once daily. Storage: Store at 20-25°C (68-77°F).

Stop by PRN™ Pharmacal booth #1931 to learn more and play for a chance to win! Join us for breakfast on Sunday the 14th to hear Dr. Gary Oswald speak about caring for senior pets.

Changing the standard of care for canine pancreatitis with

PANOQUELL®-CA1 (fuzapladib sodium for injection)

The first FDA conditionally approved innovative solution for the management of clinical signs associated with acute onset of pancreatitis in dogs.

Anti-inflammatory effects through LFA-1 inhibition:

• Thought to limit pancreatic lesion expansion
• Helps prevent complications such as multi-organ failure

Take the "ITIS" out of pancreatitis

PANOQUELL®-CA1 is conditionally approved by FDA pending a full demonstration of effectiveness under application number 141-567. It is a violation of Federal Law to use this product other than as directed in the labeling. CAUTION: Federal law restricts this drug to use by or on the order of a licensed veterinarian.

IMPORTANT SAFETY INFORMATION: The safe use of PANOQUELL®-CA1 has not been evaluated in dogs with cardiac disease, hepatic failure, renal impairment, dogs that are pregnant, lactating, intended for breeding or puppies under 6 months of age. PANOQUELL®-CA1 should not be used in dogs with a known hypersensitivity to fuzapladib sodium. PANOQUELL®-CA1 is a highly protein bound drug and its use with other highly protein bound medications have not been studied. The most common side effects in the pilot field study were anorexia, digestive tract disorders, respiratory tract disorders and jaundice. PANOQUELL®-CA1 is not for use in humans. Limited data is available on the potential teratogenic effects of fuzapladib sodium. Therefore, anyone who is pregnant, breast feeding, or planning to become pregnant should avoid direct contact with PANOQUELL®-CA1. For additional information on the use of PANOQUELL®-CA1, please refer to the package insert.

Based on the data submitted by the sponsor for the conditional approval of PANOQUELL®-CA1, FDA determined that the drug is safe and has a reasonable expectation of effectiveness when used according to the labeling.

What does FDA Conditional Approval Mean?
Conditional approval may be granted for a veterinary drug when it is shown to be safe and when used according to the label. In addition, the drug must also demonstrate a “reasonable expectation of effectiveness,” but has not yet been proven to meet the “substantial evidence” standard of effectiveness required for full approval. Conditionally approved drugs may not be used for any off-label indications.

Get a new perspective

VMX is more than a veterinary conference offering CE. It is an EXPERIENCE you won’t want to miss.

Read what VMX attendees are saying!
“The speakers were wonderful and engaging and the broad range of topics was great.”

“It was wonderful experiencing products outside of what my clinic carries, getting to interact with more of the veterinary community and learn more about the products we do carry and about new products coming out.”

“Great lecture selection, a lot of updates on diagnostics, new technologies and medications.”

“Great talks, learned a lot. Trade show is always great to learn about new products. Get out of the snow. :)”

“Wide range of sessions on multiple topics that are very relevant to day-to-day workings of a vet hospital. Very good information to apply to work life and bring back to share with team.”

“Speakers were all fantastic. Expo hall was great too, so many vendors. The lunch options were nice.”

“The variety of lectures was AMAZING! It’s not often you get such great tech track lectures with that much variety. Big applause to those who organized the different speakers! The tech lounge with NVA was phenomenal! It’s much appreciated to have something tech specific.”
